BATTLE ON THE YALU

ENGAGEMENT SAID TO HAVE
TAKEN PLACE BETWEEN THE
OPPOSING ARMIES.

RUSSIA IS MASSING TROOPS

WILL PLACE HALF A MILLION MEN AT DISPOSAL OF GEN-ERAL KUROPATKIN.

Tientsin, April 12.—The right wing of the Japanese line of advance from Northern Korea is strongly posted in the neighborhood of Chieseng, in the northwesterly bend of the Yalu river.
It is reported that an engagement has taken place near there.

The Japanese objective is said to be the Tieling section of the railway in the rear of Mukden.

BIG ARMY FOR KUROPATKIN.

Russia Will Follow Military Dictum of Napoleon.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—Exceptionally reliable information regarding the Russian military plans confirm the repeated announcements that these plans will not mature until late in the summer. They are of far greater magnitude than is generally believed abroad and take into account all possible contingencies.

General Kuropatkin, remembering the experience of Russia during her war with Turkey, when the Russian army of 300,000 placed in the field at the beginning had to be more than doubled, has insisted that the men and guns to be placed at his disposal shall cover the extreme limit required to settle the fate of the campaign.

The Russian plans are predicated upon Napoleon's dictum that "God fights on the side of the heaviest battalions," and they are being worked out and timed so as to apply to a superiority of numbers, on land and sea simultaneously. The army is designed to attain the enormous total of 500,000 at the time scheduled for the reinforcement of Vice Admiral Makaroff's fleet with the Baltic squadron.

Six New Army Corps.

The Seventeenth and Tenth army corps now drafting are expected to reach Manchuria by the middle of June. The mobilization of four other corps, at least two of which will be from the Volga, will be announced by the middle of next month and will start eastward a month later, reaching their destination at the end of August.

Rear Admiral Rojestrensky will hoist his flag as commander of the formidable Baltic squadron early in July and will sail immediately for Port Arthur with the following vessels:

The battleships Slava, Borodino, Orel, Kniaz, Souvaroff, Alexander III, and Oslabla; the cruisers Aurora, Dmitri Donskoi, Svitland, Almaz, Jemchug and Izumrud, and the transports Kamtschatka and Ocean, each carrying 1,000 tons of coal. The Tem-perley conveyers ordered in the United States are expected soon and they will enable the squadron to coal at sea.

The last possible difficulty regarding the passage of the Suez canal disappeared last week with the signing of the Anglo-French colonial treaty, by which Great Britain adheres to the convention of 1858 concerning the free passage of the canal.

RUSSIAN FORCE WEAK

LONG EXPECTED BATTLE ON THE
YALU RIVER MAY NEVER
TAKE PLACE.

London, April 12.—A correspondent of the Times with the Japanese headquarters, sends the following dated April 11, by wireless telegraphy via Wellhausen:

"At present information from the land front must be belated owing to the distance of the existing sea base from the advance guard, but this will soon be remedied.

"It is doubtful whether the long expected engagement for the possession of the Yalu river will ever take place, certainly not unless the Russians have been reinforced more heavily than my information leads me to believe. This was foreseen by the Japanese and hence their efforts to block Port Arthur so that they may be able to reduce the length of their land communications by the establishment of a more convenient sea base. It must be remembered that unless the Japanese secure the north of the Yalu with a new base by July the land movements from Korea will become practically impossible.

"The rainfall of summer is so heavy that all the flimsy bamboo bridges will be destroyed. This would indicate that it is not to the advantage of either belligerent to engage in a struggle in the vicinity of the Yalu.

"The Russians desire to get the Japanese forces inland with the hope of enveloping them, while the Japanese want to get inland because the country affords a more suitable theater of operations.

"As the time is short a new effort of the Japanese must be developed at most immediately."

BY THE END OF MAY.

Nearly Half a Million Soldiers Will Be in Manchuria.

Paris, April 12.—The Echo de Paris publishes the following dispatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent:

"The First, Second, Third and Fourth army corps have taken up positions in Manchuria and the Fifth army corps is in Western Siberia advancing toward designated positions.
These, with the Tenth and Seventeenth army corps, the Cossacks actually in the far East and the Caucasian cav-lry now being mobilized, will bring the total number of men in the army at the seat of war up to 460,000 by the end of May.

"General Kuropatkin intends to have the Caucasian mountaineers operate in Korea, which they will enter when it is considered that the decisive moment has arrived to drive out the Japanese, which will not be before August.

"I learn that fifteen batteries of eight guns each are now between Liao-yang and Harbin. The engineers are doubling the line between Kaitak and Duho.

"A large order for mountain batteries has been given to Russian firms.

"The French ambassador (M. Bombard) who is now in Paris on the pretext of spending the Easter holidays with his son, has really gone to consult M. Delcasse concerning the significance of the British entente with reference to a Russian alliance."

INDIGNANTLY DENIED.

Japanese Refute Charges Made by the Russians.

Tokio, April 12.—The charge emanating from Russian sources to the effect that the Japanese troops engaged in the fight at Chongju March 29 abused the privilege of the Red Cross flag by taking refuge in a building occupied as a hospital, is indignantly denied here and pronounced a fabrication designed to injure the Japanese in the eyes of the world. An official investigation shows that the Japanese force engaged at Chongju had established a bandage station in the rear of their firing line, and it was used exclusively for the purpose of caring for the wounded.

RUSSIA AGAIN PROTESTS.

Asks Recall of Chinese Troops on Manchurian Frontier.

London, April 12.—The Tientsin correspondent of the Standard says that Russia has again protested against the presence of Chinese troops on the Manchurian frontier and has demanded their withdrawal within a five-mile limit of the great wall.

COMPLICATIONS ARISE

SERIOUS DIPLOMATIC TANGLE BE-TWEEN UNITED STATES AND CHINA.

St. Louis, April 12.—A special to the Republic from Washington, D. C., says: Diplomatic complications in the relations between China and the United States have arisen, according to information derived from sources closely identified with diplomatic circles, because of the harsh manner in which the Chinese exclusion laws are operating against Chinamen of consequence who have business in this country at the St. Louis world's fair. Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, has filed formal protests in the matter.

The situation is considered delicate, not to say serious, because of the war in the far East, which embarrasses all the diplomacy of the Orient, and because of the added fact because the whole Chinese exclusion question is to come up for another solution, since the period covered by the existing treaty soon will expire.

The incidents cited by the protests are said to refer to two parties of prominent Chinamen who, though armed with certificates from their governments and with papers indorsed by the American consul general at Shanghai, were detained at San Francisco and subjected to indignities.

FOR A NEW TREATY.

Negotiations Begun Between England, Russia and Denmark.

London, April 12.—King Edward's visit to Copenhagen, according to the correspondent of the Daily Mail at that capital, has resulted in the beginning of negotiations for a new treaty between Great Britain, Denmark and Russia, replacing the conventions with Denmark concluded by the late Emperor Alexander III. It is understood that the proposed arrangement will insure the neutrality of Denmark in the event of an Anglo-Russian conflict, or at least that the Great Belt channel and the sound between Zealand and South Sweden will be declared neutral in the event of war.

TROUBLE WILL BE ENDED.

Lithographers' Union and Employers Reach an Agreement.

New York, April 12.—At the close of a conference which has been in session here for the past eight days a statement was given out Monday announcing that an arrangement had been reached which would terminate the trouble between the lithographers' union and the employers. The conference was presided over by Harker McMillin and was attended by six representatives of each side of the controversy. It is expected that the agreement will be ratified on or before April 15.

REMANDS THE CASE

MINNESOTA MERGER SUIT
TO STATE TRIBUNALS.

LOWER COURT IS REVERSED

HELD TO HAVE BEEN IN ERROR
BY ENTERTAINING JURIS-DICTION IN THE CASE.

Washington, April 12.—The United States supreme court has decided the case of the State of Minnesota vs. the Northern Securities company and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railway companies, involving the validity of the merger of the two railroad companies, holding that it was without jurisdiction and reversing the opinion of the court below.

Justice Harlan, who delivered the opinion, said that the circuit court should not have entertained jurisdiction in the case, the effect being to remand the case to the state courts.

In delivering the opinion of the court Justice Harlan cited the facts bearing on the origin and history of the case, saying that originally the suit was instituted by the state in its own court, but before an opinion could be reached there it was, on petition of the Securities company, transferred to the circuit court of the district of Minnesota, by which court it was dismissed.
Much controversy arose over the right to remove to the federal court and after hearing the case argued once the supreme court ordered a second hearing on that point.

Justice Harlan called attention to the fact that the proceeding was for the purpose of enforcing both the state laws and the federal anti-trust act, saying that the circuit court could not have taken jurisdiction if only the state statutes had been involved.

Analyzes the Federal Law.

Taking up the federal law and analyzing its provisions he said it was clear that the case did not belong to any of the clauses provided for by it.

"It is," he said, "not a criminal proceeding; nor a suit in equity in the name of the United States to restrain violations of the anti-trust act; nor a proceeding in the name of the United States for the forfeiture of property; nor an action by any person or corporation for the recovery of threefold damages for injury done to business or property by some other person or corporation."

The contention that the case involved proprietary interests of the state was not allowed to influence the opinion. On that point the court said, in part:

"The injury on account of which the present suit was brought is at most only remote and indirect; such an injury as would come alike, although in different degrees, to every individual owner of property in a state by reason of the suppression, in violation of the act of congress, of free competition between interstate carriers engaged in business in such state. If Minnesota may, by an original suit in its name, invoke the jurisdiction of the circuit court because alone of the alleged remote and indirect injury to its proprietary interests arising from the

More Absence of Free Competition in trade and commerce as carried on by interstate carriers within its limits, then every state upon like grounds may maintain, in its name, in a circuit court of the United States, a suit against interstate carriers engaged in business within their respective limits."

The court also refused to hold that Minnesota's dignity or rights as a state would be affected under article IV. of the federal Constitution by permitting the stock of corporations of that state to be held by an outside corporation like the Securities company.
Justice Harlan said the court did not think that the article of the Constitution had any bearing whatever on the question. He said in conclusion:

"For the reasons stated we are of opinion that the suit does not—to use the words of the act of 1875—really and substantially involve a dispute or controversy within the jurisdiction of the circuit court for the purpose of a final decree. That being the case the circuit court, following the mandate of the statute, should not have proceeded therein, but should have remanded the case to the state court.

"The decree of the circuit court is reversed and the case is sent back with directions that it be remanded to the state court."

The opinion of the court was unanimous.

Quaint Custom in Land Tenure.

At Chingford, in Essex, England, an estate is held by a very curious condition. Whenever it passes into new hands the owner, with his wife, man-servant and maid-servant, comes on horseback to the parsonage and pays his homage by blowing three blasts upon a horn. He carries a hawk upon his wrist. His servant has a greyhound in a slip, both for the use of the rector for that day. He receives a chicken for the hawk, a peck of oats for his horse and a loaf of bread for his greyhound. After dinner the owner blows three more blasts and then, with his party, withdraws from the rectory.

The Grizzly in the Old Days.

In the old days, before the deadly magazine rifle was invented, hunting the grizzly was a very different affair, and no animal on the American continent was more dreaded, his ferocious and vital force when wounded filling the most reckless hunters with a wholesome dread. It was not at all unusual for a grizzly with a bullet through his heart to pursue and tear to pieces the hunter, whose long, single barreled, muzzle loading rifle, with its one round lead bullet, was altogether inadequate for such a contest. It is a strange thing, too, that, while the grizly bear is an omnivorous feeder, living on anything, from roots and nuts to steer and buffalo meat, he has never been known to devour human flesh.—

OPPOSING ARMIES.

ERAL KUROPATKIN.

Tientsin, April 12.—The right wing of the Japanese line of advance from Northern Korea is strongly posted in the neighborhood of Cheshing, in the northwesterly bend of the Yalu river. It is reported that an engagement has taken place near there.

The Japanese objective is said to be the Tieling section of the railway in the rear of Mukden.

BIG ARMY FOR KUROPATKIN.
Russia Will Follow Military Dictum of Napoleon.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—Exceptionally reliable information regarding the Russian military plans confirm the repeated announcements that these plans will not mature until late in the summer. They are of far greater magnitude than is generally believed abroad and take into account all possible contingencies.

General Kuropatkin, remembering the experience of Russia during her war with Turkey, when the Russian army of 300,000 placed in the field at the beginning had to be more than doubled, has insisted that the men and guns to be placed at his disposal shall cover the extreme limit required to settle the fate of the campaign.

The Russian plans are predicated upon Napoleon's dictum that "God fights on the side of the heaviest battalions," and they are being worked out and timed so as to apply to a superiority of numbers, on land and sea simultaneously.

The army is designed to attain the enormous total of 500,000 at the time scheduled for the reinforcement of Vice Admiral Makaroff's fleet with the Baltic squadron.

Six New Army Corps.
The Seventeenth and Tenth army corps now drafting are expected to reach Manchuria by the middle of June. The mobilization of four other corps, at least two of which will be from the Volga, will be announced by the middle of next month and will start eastward a month later, reaching their destination at the end of August.

Rear Admiral Rojestrensky will hoist his flag as commander of the formidable Baltic squadron early in July and will sail immediately for Port Arthur with the following vessels:
The battleships Slava, Borodino, Orel, Kniaz, Souvaroff, Alexander III., and Oslabla; the cruisers Aurora, Dmitri Donskoi, Svittland, Almaz, Jemchug and Izumrud, and the transports Kamtschatka and Ocean, each carrying 1,000 tons of coal. The Temperley conveyers ordered in the United States are expected soon and they will enable the squadron to coal at sea.

The last possible difficulty regarding the passage of the Suez canal disappeared last week with the signing of the Anglo-French colonial treaty, by which Great Britain adheres to the convention of 1888 concerning the free passage of the canal.

TAKE PLACE.

London, April 12.—A correspondent of the Times with the Japanese headquarters, sends the following dated April 11, by wireless telegraphy via Weihaiwei:
"At present information from the land front must be belated owing to the distance of the existing sea base from the advance guard, but this will soon be remedied."

"It is doubtful whether the long expected engagement for the possession of the Yalu river will ever take place, certainly not unless the Russians have been reinforced more heavily than my information leads me to believe. This was foreseen by the Japanese and hence their efforts to block Port Arthur so that they may be able to reduce the length of their land communications by the establishment of a more convenient sea base. It must be remembered that unless the Japanese secure the north of the Yalu with a new base by July the land movements from Korea will become practically impossible."

"The rainfall of summer is so heavy that all the flimsy bamboo bridges will be destroyed. This would indicate that it is not to the advantage of either belligerent to engage in a struggle in the vicinity of the Yalu."

"The Russians desire to get the Japanese forces inland with the hope of enveloping them, while the Japanese want to get inland because the country affords a more suitable theater of operations."

"As the time is short a new effort of the Japanese must be developed almost immediately."

BY THE END OF MAY.

Nearly Half a Million Soldiers Will Be in Manchuria.

Paris, April 12.—The Echo de Paris publishes the following dispatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent:

"The First, Second, Third and Fourth army corps have taken up positions in Manchuria and the Fifth army corps is in Western Siberia advancing toward designated positions. These, with the Tenth and Seventeenth army corps, the Cossacks actually in the far East and the Caucasian cavalry now being mobilized, will bring the total number of men in the army at the seat of war up to 460,000 by the end of May."

"General Kuropatkin intends to have the Caucasian mountaineers operate in Korea, which they will enter when it is considered that the decisive moment has arrived to drive out the Japanese, which will not be before August."

"I learn that fifteen batteries of eight guns each are now between Liaoyang and Harbin. The engineers are doubling the line between Kultuk and Duho."

"A large order for mountain batteries has been given to Russian firms."

"The French ambassador (M. Bompard) who is now in Paris on the pretext of spending the Easter holidays with his son, has really gone to consult M. Delcasse concerning the significance of the British entente with reference to a Russian alliance."

London, April 12.—King Edward's visit to Copenhagen, according to the correspondent of the Daily Mail at that capital, has resulted in the beginning of negotiations for a new treaty between Great Britain, Denmark and Russia, replacing the conventions with Denmark concluded by the late Emperor Alexander III. It is understood that the proposed arrangement will insure the neutrality of Denmark in the event of an Anglo-Russian conflict, or at least that the Great Belt channel and the sound between Zealand and South Sweden will be declared neutral in the event of war.

New York, April 12.—At the close of a conference which has been in session here for the past eight days a statement was given out Monday announcing that an arrangement had been reached which would terminate the trouble between the lithographers' union and the employers. The conference was presided over by Banker McMillin and was attended by six representatives of each side of the controversy. It is expected that the agreement will be ratified on or before April 15.

TO STATE TRIBUNALS.

HELD TO HAVE BEEN IN ERROR
BY ENTERTAINING JURIS-
DICTION IN THE CASE.

Washington, April 12.—The United States supreme court has decided the case of the State of Minnesota vs. the Northern Securities company and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway companies, involving the validity of the merger of the two railroad companies, holding that it was without jurisdiction and reversing the opinion of the court below.

Justice Harlan, who delivered the opinion, said that the circuit court should not have entertained jurisdiction in the case, the effect being to remand the case to the state courts.

In delivering the opinion of the court Justice Harlan cited the facts bearing on the origin and history of the case, saying that originally the suit was instituted by the state in its own court, but before an opinion could be reached there it was, on petition of the Securities company, transferred to the circuit court of the district of Minnesota, by which court it was dismissed. Much controversy arose over the right to remove to the federal court and after hearing the case argued once the supreme court ordered a second hearing on that point.

Justice Harlan called attention to the fact that the proceeding was for the purpose of enforcing both the state laws and the federal anti-trust act, saying that the circuit court could not have taken jurisdiction if only the state statutes had been involved.

Analyzes the Federal Law.

Taking up the federal law and analyzing its provisions he said it was clear that the case did not belong to any of the clauses provided for by it.

"It is," he said, "not a criminal proceeding; nor a suit in equity in the name of the United States to restrain violations of the anti-trust act; nor a proceeding in the name of the United States for the forfeiture of property; nor an action by any person or corporation for the recovery of threefold damages for injury done to business or property by some other person or corporation."

The contention that the case involved proprietary interests of the state was not allowed to influence the opinion. On that point the court said, in part:

"The injury on account of which the present suit was brought is at most only remote and indirect; such an injury as would come alike, although in different degrees, to every individual owner of property in a state by reason of the suppression, in violation of the act of congress, of free competition between interstate carriers engaged in business in such state. If Minnesota may, by an original suit in its name, invoke the jurisdiction of the circuit court because alone of the alleged remote and indirect injury to its proprietary interests arising from the

in trade and commerce as carried on by interstate carriers within its limits, then every state upon like grounds may maintain, in its name, a circuit court of the United States, a suit against interstate carriers engaged in business within their respective limits."

The court also refused to hold that Minnesota's dignity or rights as a state would be affected under article IV. of the federal Constitution by permitting the stock of corporations of that state to be held by an outside corporation like the Securities company. Justice Harlan said the court did not think that the article of the Constitution had any bearing whatever on the question. He said in conclusion:

"For the reasons stated we are of opinion that the suit does not—to use the words of the act of 1875—really and substantially involve a dispute or controversy within the jurisdiction of the circuit court for the purpose of a final decree. That being the case the circuit court, following the mandate of the statute, should not have proceeded therein, but should have remanded the case to the state court."

"The decree of the circuit court is reversed and the case is sent back with directions that it be remanded to the state court."

The opinion of the court was unanimous.

Quaint Custom in Land Tenure.

At Chingford, in Essex, England, an estate is held by a very curious condition. Whenever it passes into new hands the owner, with his wife, manservant and maid, comes on horseback to the parsonage and pays his homage by blowing three blasts upon a horn. He carries a hawk upon his wrist. His servant has a greyhound in a slip, both for the use of the rector for that day. He receives a chicken for the hawk, a peck of oats for his horse and a loaf of bread for his greyhound. After dinner the owner blows three more blasts and then, with his party, withdraws from the rectory.

Weather

Forecast—Fair tonight and fair and warmer tomorrow.

Temperature (Record kept by Dr. J. L. Camp from 7 a. m. yesterday morning to 7 a. m. this morning)—Maximum 42 above zero; minimum 19 above zero.

The Collins forces are on the defensive and most of their time is spent in explaining.

This isn't the year that the republican party is accused of being the monied party—Willie Hearst has settled that.

Hearst will probably not be able to buy his nomination from the democrats but he will own a lot of things when the convention is over that he won't know what to do with.

Why does Collins devote all his expletives to the railroad trusts? What will he do to the South St. Paul cattle ring if elected? That interests the farmers more than railroad platitudes just now.

BRO. EASTMAN still reiterates that he is for Clapp. Of course he is, everybody is for Clapp, and as long as he does not need Alvah's help he can surely depend on it. When he did need him, however, he was for his opponent.

BRO. VARRALY, of the Little Falls Herald, expects to be one of the Hearst boomers in the national democratic convention. The democratic brethren of the Sixth district are not just certain that they want men of yellow tendencies to represent them however.

If those Igorotes down at St. Louis who are scheming to beat out the humane society and have a dog feast, will come to Brainerd we will guarantee that there will be no limit to the number of worthless curs that will be furnished them. In fact, that's what would suit the general public here, someone who would "eat up" about four-fifths of the dog population.

The Minneapolis Journal is giving out a list of the Dunn hustlers and while the entire list is not published it shows up well. It's no secret that the best men and the greatest number of men in the party favor the nomination of R. C. Dunn for governor, and they don't seem to care who knows it. Are the Collins workers so scarce that they do not care to let the public in on it, or would they rather work in the dark? As yet we have failed to find a Dunn man who wasn't ready to have the fact published.

UNEARTH SOME VALUABLES.

T. E. Rutherford While Engaged in Clearing Up Old Arlington Debris Finds Valuable Silverware.

To-day while T. E. Rutherford was superintending the work of clearing away the debris about the old Arlington hotel site, he came across some valuables that are highly prized by Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kaplar. What Mrs. Kaplar regretted to lose most of all were her souvenir spoons. She had a collection of beautiful spoons and they were of considerable value, besides a large collection of other spoons, knives and forks. These were all found besides a Knight Templar sword belonging to Mr. Kaplar. Mr. Kaplar happened to be in the city and he took them home to-day.

Comrade Orton S. Clarke, assistant adjutant general of the department of Minnesota, G. A. R., passed through the city this afternoon en route to Wadena. He was the guest of Comrade Healey at dinner.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Congregational church, will give a ten-cent lunch tomorrow evening, commencing at 5 o'clock, following their regular meeting. This will be the best lunch for the money ever offered in Brainerd and not a man or woman in the city should miss it.

"Chester" Cox has at last been located. He is working out with the "Peggys" at St. Paul, although it is not known whether he will remain with them permanently. "Chester" is about as well known as any player in the league, and in spite of the roasting to which he is subjected by the inhabitants of the bleachers, there is not a city in the league where he is not well liked. He is a good sticker, and an excellent utility pitcher and all round fielder, and would be an acquisition to any team in the league.—Duluth Herald.

ST. LOUIS TRIP BEING TALKED UP

Some Opposition to the Project, it is Stated Here, Emanates From Lake City

MOST MEN FAVOR PROPOSITION

Seems to be Difference of Opinion Among Officers of Third Regt. About Matter

Tonight there will be the regular drill of Company F in Gardner hall and tomorrow night there will be inspection, to be conducted by a United States Army officer. Capt. Heffner is desirous that all men be out tomorrow night.
Following the inspection there will be a dance and Graham's orchestra will furnish the music.

Another matter which has been agitating the minds of militia men throughout the state for several months last past will in all probability be brought up at the meeting tomorrow night. It is the aspect of the proposition to go to the St. Louis exposition as a regiment that is uppermost in the minds of all the men as well as the officers and the question will have to be settled one way or another very soon.

Three years ago when the Third regiment camped in this city after the "hike" across country Col. VanDuzee, commanding officer of the regiment, made a speech and expressed as his wish that the regiment be taken to the St. Louis exposition. The matter went along and finally the exposition was postponed a year. A year ago this winter an appropriation of $12,000 was secured from the legislature and general orders soon afterward came from headquarters to the different officers stating that such a trip would be taken.

At camp last year it was decided to remain but eight days, instead of ten so that the stay at St. Louis this year would be two days longer than the allotted time of ten days.

With the pay for two days extra this year, and also the appropriation of $12-000 the officers of the regiment figure that they can make the trip all right and every man almost in the regiment has been planning on such a trip.

A short time ago an objection was raised to the proposed trip and it is thought to have emanated from Lake City where the encampment is held each year, as it means a great deal to that city from a pecuniary standpoint. Of course there are some others who object to the trip for various reasons, but the bulk of the men and officers are in favor of the trip and there is but little doubt, from the sentiment of the entire regiment but that the trip will be made.
At the meeting tomorrow night the matter will come up and in all probability a resolution will be passed, expressing the sentiments of the company on the question, and it will be forwarded to headquarters.

CURE CATARRH BY BREATHING

H. P. Dunn & Co. Offer to Return Money
If Hyomei Treatment Fails To Cure Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing.

If for a few minutes four times a day you breathe Hyomei, all catarrhal germs will be destroyed and the irritated mucous membrane restored to health.

With every Hyomei outfit there is a neat inhaler which can be carried in the purse or pocket. Hyomei breathed through this contains the same healing balsams that are found in the air upon the mountains, where catarrh is unknown.

It destroys all catarrhal germs in the air passages of the head, throat and nose, and makes a positive and permanent cure of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs but $1, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c., making it one of the most economical of treatments for catarrh.

H. P. Dunn & Co. believe so thoroughly in the merit of Hyomei, that they guarantee to return the money if it fails.
This is certainly the strongest evidence they can give of their faith in the Hyomei treatment. It enables any one to use Hyomei without risk of spending money for nothing.

Ask them to show you a Hyomei outfit and explain to you what a simple and easy way it is to relieve and cure your catarrhal troubles.

CUBA AND THE SUNNY SOUTH

Interesting Description by Judge Holland of His Recent Trip to Cuba and the Sunny South.

At the request of THE DISPATCH Judge Holland has written the following account of his recent trip through the south and to Cuba and the Isle of Pines:

"I bought a ticket from St. Paul to Havana and return for $84.00, by way of the Burlington from St. Paul to Chicago, the Illinois Central from Chicago to New Orleans, and Southern Steamship line from New Orleans to Havana.
The time table gives the time from St.
Paul to Chicago 12 hours and 20 minutes, distance about 400 miles. From Chicago to New Orleans is 26 hours and 10 minutes, distance 922 miles. From New Orleans to Havana, 610 miles, about 44 hours. This would make the distance from St. Paul to Havana by the route I went, about 1932 miles, and takes 82½ hours to get there with two changes, one at Chicago and one at New Orleans.
It is 110 miles from New Orleans to the mouth of the Mississippi river.

"We left New Orleans at two o'clock in the afternoon and saw most of the river and banks going down it. As it got so foggy soon after dark we anchored in the Mississippi river at about 8 o'clock in the morning until the fog cleared up. The scenery is not great along the river below New Orleans, although there was much talk about the location where Jackson whipped the English days after peace had been declared, and some discussion about the jetties at the mouth of the river. One of the mouths of the Mississippi river has been dredged and deepened so vessels can go out and in. The sides of the river from the mouth a ways up stream have been secured and projections from the sides straight into the river, which are called jetties.

"When I reached New Orleans I went to the St. Charles hotel and registered.
I went to the room and found another man there but there were three other vacant beds so I concluded to remain.
The gentleman left in the morning and I remained another night thinking I would be alone, but about bed time up came three men with their satchels and grips. The clerk told me every room was occupied. The number of my room was 558. Other hotels I went to seemed to be crowded just as badly. Much of the travel this winter went south instead of west. Every vessel reaching Havana while I was there was loaded with American tourists. There are vessels running between New Orleans and Havana, Mobile and Havana, Tampa and Havana, Miami and Havana and possibly from other places.

"Everybody gives tips when they are traveling. Anyone doing any service expects tips and if they do not come otherwise they demand them. Table waiters are the worst and I saw but little difference between the white and the black, but the traveling public is most to blame. There were some on the vessel we crossed the Gulf in and at the hotel who seemed to be looking for a chance to give someone a tip. They would tip the boy in the elevator going up to the room, again coming down, the table waiters, the porter, the bell boys and everybody that did any service for them. Everyone has to do it to a greater or less extent to get any service from the waiters. The gentleman who did so much tipping was pointed out to me as a young man who recently lost his only living parent, which made him a multimillionaire. All along the line it was a frequent occurrence that the table waiters would say to a tourist: 'If you will remember me I will take good care of you.' During the holidays everybody expects tips, which are presents. If they get a tip they expect to do some service by giving a present, or otherwise, themselves.

"The Gulf of Mexico was comparatively smooth going across from the mouth of the Mississippi to Havana, although it was rough enough to make many of the passengers sick.

"The vessel we crossed the Gulf on was the 'Chalmette' and belonged to the Southern Steamship company, which I was informed was a part of the Southern Railway company. The 'Chalmette' had seven life boats on board, and one of the crew told me each would carry fifteen passengers in fair weather.
Seven life boats with 15 passengers each, would be 105 persons. I asked him what would the other 45 persons do in case of accident. 'There is plenty of room in the Gulf,' was his reply.

"There were about 100 passengers and staterooms to accommodate few more than half that number. The cabin floor was covered with cots at night, and much other space. A great many ladies occupied cots.

"There were not chairs enough to seat much more than half the passengers on board. About one half of these chairs were made so they could be partially laid down in. These were leased for 50 cents each during the trip across to Havana and the party's name tacked on it so if any other person sat down in it and the lessee came along and wanted it, he would, or could, ask the occupant to vacate. It made considerable ill feeling and was frequently compared by passengers to a hotel proprietor charging his guest extra if he sat down in a chair in the sitting room or elsewhere in the hotel.

"Some of the passengers said they would never cross on that line again.
The leasing of the chairs by the Steamship Company was no worse than that of the colored waiters demanding tips.
The table waiters demanded tips and if they did not get them, they would bring tea instead of coffee and everything else in proportion, and claim that they so understood your order. Waiters were very cheeky about tips. I at first thought that was the only pay they received, but was told by one of them that each waiter got $1.50 per day and board. I thought he spoke truthfully as I happened to be down in the rear of the boat and several waiters were playing craps. One lost what silver he had and pulled out some bills and threw a five down to bet on the result of the dice.

"Some of our people in this part of Minnesota would accept $1.50 a day and board, especially if it did not have more than five or six hours' work a day to perform, and that very easy work too.
Many tourists get change so they can give tips just the same as to pay for meals.

"After we lost sight of the country about the mouth of the Mississippi, we did not see land again until we saw Mora Castle.

"We reached Havana the latter part of the night but swung around in a circle until after daylight when a pilot came on board and took us into the harbor.
Our vessel anchored about half a mile from the wharf and near the 'deceased' 'Maine.' One of the masts of the Maine still stands erect, and most of its length is out of water and a small part of the vessel is above water also.

"Soon after our vessel anchored, a small vessel, called a lighter, came alongside of us and took the passengers from the Chalmette and carried them to the wharf where our luggage was examined by the custom house officers.
The freight on the Chalmette was taken off and put on smaller vessels and taken to the wharf by the small vessels or lighters, although there was plenty of water for the Chalmette to have gone to the wharf and unload in the usual manner. At least I was told there was plenty of water, and larger vessels were there unloading at the wharf at the time our vessel was being unloaded by lighters. I asked why this strange performance was followed and was told that the city council of Havana raised a part of its revenue by granting a license to run a lighter that is to take the freight and passengers from the anchored vessels to the wharf and from the wharf to the vessels.

"The entrance to Havana harbor is about a mile in length and much of the way is about 300 feet in width. On one side of the entrance still remains the Spanish fortifications. Many large cannon still remain on the carriages and large piles of cannon balls are piled up in the buildings on the fortifications.
This is on the side of the harbor entrance opposite Mora Castle. Mora Castle is on a point of land between the Gulf and the inlet to the harbor and is about 50 feet higher than the land across the inlet where the batteries are.
Mora Castle is on a point of land extending into the water with the Gulf on one side and the entrance to the Havana harbor on the other side. The point of land on which Mora Castle is built is solid rock about 50 feet high, and the castle or fort, is built on the rocky point with perfect view of the Gulf and entrance to Havana harbor. The castle is inaccessible on the side of the Gulf or inlet and is intended to be so in the rear. In the rear of the castle is a wall and inside towards the fort is a ditch 30 feet deep or more, and inside of this one towards the fort is another much deeper and wider. These could be filled with water to keep the enemy out of the castle from the rear. If the enemy crossed the first, the defenders of the castle could retreat from the second pull in the bridges and still be safe."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

ORRIS OBER STOCK CO.

Tomorrow morning seats will be placed on sale for the Orris Stock Co., which plays a three nights' and a matinee engagement at the Brainerd opera house, opening Thursday evening with the successful five act melodrama, "Parted," which the management claims has few superiors as an interesting play.
From the rise of the curtain until its final fall there is always, in the vernacular of the day, "something doing." Its strong plot and original climaxes make it a play well worth seeing. There will be a change of play each evening with plenty of high class and very enjoyable specialties between acts, doing away with any waits. The prices for the engagement are very low, being only 30c for any seat down stairs, 20c in the balcony and 10c in the gallery.

THE LADIES' MINSTRELS.

The members of the big chorus of twenty voices for the ladies' minstrels which will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house on the evening of May 6 are working with enthusiasm and two or three rehearsals a week are being held with the result that a good showing has already been made and those who have had just a peep at the girls and heard them sing declare that it will be one of the best local performances ever given in the city. The songs are catchy and the choruses go with a snap that is seldom apparent in a large chorus of this nature. The first part will consist of the usual number of songs and funny jokes and the second part will be just chuck full of good "stunts." The beauty about this show, and one might say an oddity, is the fact that not even the suggestion of a man will be taken as to the manner in which it will be put on. It is the work of the girls themselves and they must be given the credit.

A WEIRD LEGEND.

The Reason of the Daily Ebb and Flow of the Sea.

Do you know why the sea ebbs and flows? This is the legend: The army of drowned twice daily gather their forces at the bottom of the deep and march toward the four points of the compass to lay their weary bones on earth and escape from their watery tomb. You can hear their tramping—they call it sea moaning—and see the waves being pushed on before them in great water hills, which dash against each other in their furious flight from the escaping host, and when they break and hurl clouds of snow white spray high in the air it is caused by the lashings from the swinging, bony arms of the army drowned. And did you ever listen to the weird noise as these mountains of water leap up on each other? That is the cry of the victims of the sea.

On and on the waves are driven, farther and farther they encroach on land, and the feet of the mighty body can be heard scraping for foothold on the smooth, shifting pebbles. Only another incoming wave and escape is theirs, but it is just too late. The reacted undertow sets in, and you hear their bony feet slip from under them, and back they are carried, the sea holding them tightly in its arms, exhausted captives.

Then look when the tide has run far out and see the prints of their feet, and you will know why the sea ebbs and flows.

Two Clever Answers.

It is reported that a man appointed sixth auditor of the treasury subject to examination was asked to state the distance of the moon from the earth.
His written answer was simply, "Not near enough to affect the functions of a sixth auditor." He passed. So did another who, being examined for employment in the treasury, was asked how many soldiers England sent to this country during the Revolution.
His answer was, "A blamed sight more than ever got back."

The matter went along and finally the exposition was postponed a year. A year ago this winter an appropriation of $12,000 was secured from the legislature and general orders soon afterward came from headquarters to the different officers stating that such a trip would be taken.

At camp last year it was decided to remain but eight days, instead of ten so that the stay at St. Louis this year would be two days longer than the allotted time of ten days.

With the pay for two days extra this year, and also the appropriation of $12,000 the officers of the regiment figure that they can make the trip all right and every man almost in the regiment has been planning on such a trip.

A short time ago an objection was raised to the proposed trip and it is thought to have emanated from Lake City where the encampment is held each year, as it means a great deal to that city from a pecuniary standpoint. Of course there are some others who object to the trip for various reasons, but the bulk of the men and officers are in favor of the trip and there is but little doubt, from the sentiment of the entire regiment but that the trip will be made. At the meeting tomorrow night the matter will come up and in all probability a resolution will be passed, expressing the sentiments of the company on the question, and it will be forwarded to headquarters.

CURE CATARRH BY BREATHING

H. P. Dunn & Co. Offer to Return Money If Hyomei Treatment Fails To Cure Catarrh Without Stomach Dosing.

If for a few minutes four times a day you breathe Hyomei, all catarrhal germs will be destroyed and the irritated mucous membrane restored to health.

With every Hyomei outfit there is a neat inhaler which can be carried in the purse or pocket. Hyomei breathed through this contains the same healing balsams that are found in the air upon the mountains, where catarrh is unknown.

It destroys all catarrhal germs in the air passages of the head, throat and nose, and makes a positive and permanent cure of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs but $1. while extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c., making it one of the most economical of treatments for catarrh.

H. P. Dunn & Co. believe so thoroughly in the merit of Hyomei, that they guarantee to return the money if it fails. This is certainly the strongest evidence they can give of their faith in the Hyomei treatment. It enables any one to use Hyomei without risk of spending money for nothing.

Ask them to show you a Hyomei outfit and explain to you what a simple and easy way it is to relieve and cure your catarrhal troubles. 13

Interesting Description by Judge Holland of His Recent Trip to Cuba and the Sunny South.

At the request of THE DISPATCH Judge Holland has written the following account of his recent trip through the south and to Cuba and the Isle of Pines:

"I bought a ticket from St. Paul to Havana and return for $84.00, by way of the Burlington from St. Paul to Chicago, the Illinois Central from Chicago to New Orleans, and Southern Steamship line from New Orleans to Havana. The time table gives the time from St. Paul to Chicago 12 hours and 20 minutes, distance about 400 miles. From Chicago to New Orleans is 26 hours and 10 minutes, distance 922 miles. From New Orleans to Havana, 610 miles, about 44 hours. This would make the distance from St. Paul to Havana by the route I went, about 1932 miles, and takes 82½ hours to get there with two changes, one at Chicago and one at New Orleans. It is 110 miles from New Orleans to the mouth of the Mississippi river.

"We left New Orleans at two o'clock in the afternoon and saw most of the river and banks going down it. As it got so foggy soon after dark we anchored in the Mississippi river at about 8 o'clock in the morning until the fog cleared up. The scenery is not great along the river below New Orleans, although there was much talk about the location where Jackson whipped the English days after peace had been declared, and some discussion about the jetties at the mouth of the river. One of the mouths of the Mississippi river has been dredged and deepened so vessels can go out and in. The sides of the river from the mouth a ways up stream have been secured and projections from the sides straight into the river, which are called jetties.

"When I reached New Orleans I went to the St. Charles hotel and registered. I went to the room and found another man there but there were three other vacant beds so I concluded to remain. The gentleman left in the morning and I remained another night thinking I would be alone, but about bed time I came three men with their satchels and grips. The clerk told me every room was occupied. The number of my room was 858. Other hotels I went to seemed to be crowded just as badly. Much of the travel this winter went south instead of west. Every vessel reaching Havana while I was there was loaded with American tourists. There are vessels running between New Orleans and Havana, Mobile and Havana, Tampa and Havana, Miami and Havana and possibly from other places.

"Everybody gives tips when they are traveling. Anyone doing any service expects tips and if they do not come otherwise they demand them. Table waiters are the worst and I saw but little difference between the white and the black, but the traveling public is most to blame. There were some on the vessel we crossed the Gulf in and at the hotel who seemed to be looking for a chance to give someone a tip. They would tip the boy in the elevator going up to the room, again coming down, the table waiters, the porter, the bell boys and everybody that did any service for them. Everyone has to do it to a greater or less extent to get any service from the waiters. The gentleman who did so much tipping was pointed out to me as a young man who recently lost his only living parent, which made him a multi-millionaire. All along the line it was a frequent occurrence that the table waiters would say to a tourist: 'If you will remember me I will take good care of you.' During the holidays everybody expects tips, which are presents. If they get a tip they expect to do some service by giving a present, or otherwise, themselves.

"The Gulf of Mexico was comparatively smooth going across from the mouth of the Mississippi to Havana, although it was rough enough to make many of the passengers sick.

"The vessel we crossed the Gulf on was the 'Chalmette' and belonged to the Southern Steamship company, which I was informed was a part of the Southern Railway company. The 'Chalmette' had seven life boats on board, and one of the crew told me each would carry fifteen passengers in fair weather. Seven life boats with 15 passengers each, would be 105 persons. I asked him what would the other 45 persons do in case of accident. 'There is plenty of room in the Gulf,' was his reply.

"There were about 100 passengers and staterooms to accommodate few more than half that number. The cabin floor was covered with cots at night, and much other space. A great many ladies occupied cots.

"There were not chairs enough to seat much more than half the passengers on board. About one half of these chairs were made so they could be partially laid down in. These were leased for 50 cents each during the trip across to Havana and the party's name tacked on it so if any other person sat down in it and the lessee came along and wanted it, he would, or could, ask the occupant to vacate. It made considerable ill feeling and was frequently compared by passengers to a hotel proprietor charging his guest extra if he sat down in a chair in the sitting room or elsewhere in the hotel.

"Some of the passengers said they would never cross on that line again. The leasing of the chairs by the Steamship Company was no worse than that of the colored waiters demanding tips. The table waiters demanded tips and if they did not get them, they would bring tea instead of coffee and everything else in proportion, and claim that they so understood your order. Waiters were very cheeky about tips. I at first thought that was the only pay they received, but was told by one of them that each waiter got $1.50 per day and board. I thought he spoke truthfully as I happened to be down in the rear of the boat and several waiters were playing craps. One lost what silver he had and pulled out some bills and threw a five down to bet on the result of the dice.

"Some of our people in this part of Minnesota would accept $1.50 a day and board, especially if it did not have more than five or six hours' work a day to perform, and that very easy work too. Many tourists get change so they can give tips just the same as to pay for meals.

"After we lost sight of the country about the mouth of the Mississippi, we did not see land again until we saw Mora Castle.

"We reached Havana the latter part of the night but swung around in a circle until after daylight when a pilot came on board and took us into the harbor. Our vessel anchored about half a mile from the wharf and near the 'deceased' 'Maine.' One of the masts of the Maine still stands erect, and most of its length is out of water and a small part of the vessel is above water also.

"Soon after our vessel anchored, a small vessel, called a lighter, came alongside of us and took the passengers from the Chalmette and carried them to the wharf where our luggage was examined by the custom house officers. The freight on the Chalmette was taken off and put on smaller vessels and taken to the wharf by the small vessels or lighters, although there was plenty of water for the Chalmette to have gone to the wharf and unload in the usual manner. At least I was told there was plenty of water, and larger vessels were there unloading at the wharf at the time our vessel was being unloaded by lighters. I asked why this strange performance was followed and was told that the city council of Havana raised a part of its revenue by granting a license to run a lighter that is to take the freight and passengers from the anchored vessels to the wharf and from the wharf to the vessels.

"The entrance to Havana harbor is about a mile in length and much of the way is about 300 feet in width. On one side of the entrance still remains the Spanish fortifications. Many large cannon still remain on the carriages and large piles of cannon balls are piled up in the buildings on the fortifications. This is on the side of the harbor entrance opposite Mora Castle. Mora Castle is on a point of land between the Gulf and the inlet to the harbor and is about 50 feet higher than the land across the inlet where the batteries are. Mora Castle is on a point of land extending into the water with the Gulf on one side and the entrance to the Havana harbor on the other side. The point of land on which Mora Castle is built is solid rock about 50 feet high, and the castle or fort, is built on the rocky point with perfect view of the Gulf and entrance to Havana harbor. The castle is inaccessible on the side of the Gulf or inlet and is intended to be so in the rear. In the rear of the castle is a wall and inside towards the fort is a ditch 30 feet deep or more, and inside of this one towards the fort is another much deeper and wider. These could be filled with water to keep the enemy out of the castle from the rear. If the enemy crossed the first, the defenders of the castle could retreat from the second pull in the bridges and still be safe."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Tomorrow morning seats will be placed on sale for the Orris Stock Co., which plays a three nights' and a matinee engagement at the Brainerd opera house, opening Thursday evening with the successful five act melodrama, "Parted," which the management claims has few superiors as an interesting play. From the rise of the curtain until its final fall there is always, in the vernacular of the day, "something doing." Its strong plot and original climaxes make it a play well worth seeing. There will be a change of play each evening with plenty of high class and very enjoyable specialties between acts, doing away with any waits. The prices for the engagement are very low, being only 30c for any seat down stairs, 20c in the balcony and 10c in the gallery.

THE LADIES' MINSTRELS.

The members of the big chorus of twenty voices for the ladies' minstrels which will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house on the evening of May 6 are working with enthusiasm and two or three rehearsals a week are being held with the result that a good showing has already been made and those who have had just a peep at the girls and heard them sing declare that it will be one of the best local performances ever given in the city. The songs are catchy and the choruses go with a snap that is seldom apparent in a large chorus of this nature. The first part will consist of the usual number of songs and funny jokes and the second part will be just chuck full of good "stunts." The beauty about this show, and one might say an oddity, is the fact that not even the suggestion of a man will be taken as to the manner in which it will be put on. It is the work of the girls themselves and they must be given the credit.

G. W. HOLLAND.

A WEIRD LEGEND.

The Reason of the Daily Ebb and Flow of the Sea.

Do you know why the sea ebbs and flows? This is the legend: The army of drowned twice daily gather their forces at the bottom of the deep and march toward the four points of the compass to lay their weary bones on earth and escape from their watery tomb. You can hear their tramping—they call it sea moaning—and see the waves being pushed on before them in great water hills, which dash against each other in their furious flight from the escaping host, and when they break and hurl clouds of snow white spray high in the air it is caused by the lashings from the swinging, bony arms of the army drowned. And did you ever listen to the weird noise as these mountains of water leap up on each other? That is the cry of the victims of the sea.

On and on the waves are driven, farther and farther they encroach on land, and the feet of the mighty body can be heard scraping for foothold on the smooth, shifting pebbles. Only another incoming wave and escape is theirs, but it is just too late. The reacted undertow sets in, and you hear their bony feet slip from under them, and back they are carried, the sea holding them tightly in its arms, exhausted captives.

Then look when the tide has run far out and see the prints of their feet, and you will know why the sea ebbs and flows.

Two Clever Answers.

It is reported that a man appointed sixth auditor of the treasury subject to examination was asked to state the distance of the moon from the earth. His written answer was simply, "Not near enough to affect the functions of a sixth auditor." He passed. So did another who, being examined for employment in the treasury, was asked how many soldiers England sent to this country during the Revolution. His answer was, "A blamed sight more than ever got back."

Sure.
